Bushkill Falls Appears in December *Vogue

BUSHKILL, PA...(11-17-11)

Bushkill Falls, known as “The Niagara of Pennsylvania,” was one of the sites for the December 2011 issue of Vogue where Oscar winning actress Charlize Theron was photographed by famed photographer Annie Leibovitz.

Leibovitz began her career as a staff photographer for Rolling Stone magazine and is known as one of America’s finest photographers. “She and her staff were the quintessential of professionalism and organization,” stated Bushkill Falls' spokesperson Diane Hannan who assisted with the day’s events. “The photographs are truly magnificent and behind-the-scenes video provides the viewer with a glimpse of the day,” Hannan continued. “Bushkill Falls often serves as a backdrop for a variety of products. This year we were excited to work with Vogue, Annie Leibovitz, Charlize Theron, as well as Sony and The Open with Val Geist.”

The December 2011 issue of Vogue hits newsstands on November 22. Vogue.com contains both pictures and behind-the-scenes video.
